

State of Wisconsin Firewood Restrictions

From the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources:

“There have been changes regarding how firewood and other wood products can be moved within our state. It also serves as a stark reminder of how firewood can harbor many different kinds of invasive pests and diseases that are harmful to Wisconsin’s trees – both in forest and urban settings. Gypsy moth, oak wilt, and the emerald ash borer are just a few examples of pests and diseases that hitch hike on firewood, making their way easily into previously unaffected, healthy areas.

This poses a serious threat to trees throughout the state. To protect our parks and forests from these firewood hitch hikers, the Wisconsin DNR has updated a permanent rule, effective June 1, 2010, which prohibits bringing firewood onto any properties from more than 25 miles away or from outside of Wisconsin unless the wood is from a WI certified dealer. This includes campsites in state parks and forests. Additional information is available on the rule, [DNR Rule: NR 45.045 \[PDF 11KB\]](#).”

We apologize for any inconvenience this may cause.

Thank you for your cooperation,
